Times like these make it more evident than ever that every business should have a solution in place that allows their employees to work remotely. Businesses that do not have a solution deployed in times of crisis are then left scrambling to find ways to continue operating.

Green Cloud partners have options when it comes to the best solution for their end users. If your customer is looking for the fastest and most flexible option for quickly scaling user counts up or down in times of uncertainty, the Infrastructure-as-a-Service (IaaS) RDS farm option would be ideal. Our Desktop-as-a-Service (DaaS) offering is a high performance solution that dedicates one VM for each user.
